Mandatory Damp Squib Post

Posted on 2013/02/19 by vauung

OK, the hyperstitional dynamics of 2012 excitement didn't deliver many fireworks. Vauung's Lair better find something else to be, rather than a 2012 hype blog.

Digging through a non-event isn't that enticing right now, so a few disjointed reactions will have to suffice:

(1) Lying Demon Bs, you promised … (Never believe a silvery-voiced hyper-smurf, but we all knew that already, didn't we?)

(2) This camouflage stuff really works! (Crowley insisted until his dying day that the earth was destroyed by fire in 1904.) Secret apocalypses kind of violate the genre conventions, but that's OK …

(3) At least the end of the end of the end happened exactly on time …

This entry was posted in Uncategorized. Bookmark the permalink.